

La Salle Academy

is pleased to present:

Operation Safe Surf for Parents

Monday Nov 16 at 7 pm

Internet safety is rapidly becoming one of the toughest issues facing parents today. As Pennsylvania's top law enforcement officer, Attorney General Corbett has made it a top priority to guard children against the dangers of the internet.

Not surprisingly, many kids are more adept at using a computer and the Internet than their parents. Learn how can parents best talk with their children about Internet safety.

La Salle Academy is please to present an Internet safety program called "Operation Safe Surf," designed by Attorney General Tom Corbett to show parents how they can help keep their children safe online Children are growing up in a digital age and spend a great deal of their time online - instant messaging, researching and shopping. And, while these are all great tools, they need to be used wisely. Children are being targeted by online predators at an alarming rate, so it is critical for us to help them learn how to protect themselves while still enjoying all of the benefits of the Internet.

Join us at La Salle Academy

on Monday Nov 16 at 7 pm to learn more

For directions visit www.LSAbear.org

Mary McCoy Senior Supervisory Special Agent of Education and Outreach for the Bureau of Investigative Services of PA Attorney General's office will conduct the program.

Doug Gieger owner of Double Click Computer and parent of two children will discuss what parents should know about social networking.